Ministry Description

In 1922, a Scottish missionary founded a medical outpost in the central highlands of Kenya, just east of Mount Kenya. During the next 80 years, the outpost grew into a busy and effective 300-bed mission hospital. In 2002, Chogoria Hospital lost all Western assistance in personnel and funding and began a slow decline. In 2014, WGM sent its first western missionary family to the hospital, and by the end of 2016 the hospital had a faculty of 10 full-time doctors from East Africa and the West.

In addition to being a center for medical education, Chogoria Hospital serves a very large population in one of the poorest counties in Kenya. The hospital provides extensive outpatient services such as HIV and TB programs, prenatal and antenatal care, family medicine, palliative care, emergency care, dental care, basic optometry, and several clinics—general outpatient, specialty medical, general surgery, gynecology, and pediatric. Inpatient services include internal medicine, surgery and orthopedics, pediatrics, and obstetrics/gynecology. The hospital also has a basic laboratory, digital plain radiology, a CT scanner, and ultrasound services.
