Ministry Description

Christian Union Bible College, located in Mount Hagen in the Western Highlands Province of PNG, provides urgently needed Bible and vocational training for men and women being called into full-time ministry. Classes are offered in the areas of pastoral ministries; evangelism; Christian education; and children's and youth, women's, music, counseling, and leadership ministries. After completing either a three-year certificate program or a four-year diploma program, students return to their villages to shepherd and challenge local church members. The school year runs from August through May with semester break in December.

Quick Facts

- With over 800 languages, PNG is linguistically the world's most complex nation. Church services are conducted and Bibles are written in Melanesian Pidgin, the local trade language.
- Christian Union Church, formed in 1964 by Churches of Christ in Christian Union missionaries, currently has about 120 congregations and approximately 90 national pastors in seven districts and three areas. While some churches have permanent buildings, other congregations still meet in grass huts or under trees.
- Men and women have very distinct roles in Papua New Guinean society. Women work in the garden, take care of the children and pigs, and look after the home while men traditionally handle all negotiations.
