Biography

Growing up in a Christian family, I (Meg) can't remember a time when I didn't know God loves me. It was an easy choice for me to follow Him. While I was in college, God put a love for Hungary in my heart as well as a call to missions.

After graduation, I had the opportunity to be a part of English camps in Hungary. During this time, God confirmed that Hungary was the place for me to be, and I was happy to return as a long-term volunteer and then a career missionary.

Eventually, my general love for Hungarians became very specific as I met and married my husband, Gábor. God has blessed us with three lovable children—Peter, Evelin, and Gabriel.

In the years since I first went to Hungary, I've seen God work in wonderful ways to draw people to Himself. I consider it an honor and a joy to be a part of that work.
