Biography

Hello! Thank you for your interest and visiting my page. A continual prayer washed over this page is that you will be encouraged in your faith by the hope of Romans 5:2 (TLB): "For because of our faith, he has brought us into this place of highest privilege where we now stand, and we confidently and joyfully look forward to actually becoming all that God has had in mind for us to be."

Tennessee is home to me, my two brothers and their families, and my parents. My faith began early as I was raised in a family steeped in ministry, always encouraging me to draw close to the Lord. Always there was a stirring in me toward what I know now as God's calling to a missionary existence. A love for airplanes and an interest in medicine characterized my formal education: Flight School, Auburn University, BSBA Professional Flight Management, 2008; then, Nursing School, University of Tennessee, BSN, 2014.

My early flying was dedicated to mission flying in the Caribbean, during which the 2010 Haiti earthquake tragically happened. The disaster response transitioned to long-term support when the cholera epidemic broke out. I returned to Tennessee and completed nursing school. After school, my work focused on nursing research in rural Appalachia. Since 2015, I have worked as a registered nurse in trauma critical care at a level one trauma teaching hospital in Knoxville, Tennessee. I am constantly learning and love getting to share time with my family and community, flying as much as possible, farming as much as the land allows, and being outdoors.

By the grace of God and the support of the Church, I am gratefully going to Tenwek Hospital in Bomet, Kenya, to serve as the ICU nurse educator. I look forward to learning how nursing is practiced in Kenya, sharing my experience as a nurse from the USA, and collaborating with Tenwek staff to see how I can best provide care through Tenwek Hospital.

May the God of all creation be our hope for peace in the world, on earth as it is in heaven.
