

Bebe Gergely

Biography

I serve as the volunteer coordinator in WGM's Mobilization Department. In my role, I get to work directly with people as they say yes to God and discover His calling on their lives. I get excited thinking about how mobilizing volunteers will impact the kingdom of God here on earth.

I am a graduate of Indiana Wesleyan University, where I studied intercultural studies and theology. My education and experience serving abroad for weeks to months as a volunteer allows me to relate well with our volunteers and help them prepare for cross-cultural ministry! I love connecting with volunteers while they are on their ministry locations and shortly after they return. Having a front-row seat while our volunteers pursue missions and experience the global church is incredibly rewarding to me. I am grateful to play a role in encouraging and praying for our volunteers as they serve around the world.

If you are interested in serving with WGM as a mid-term volunteer from one to twelve months at a time, then please visit our webpage to learn more.